TheraScribe 5.0

Learn how to identify, assess, and treat clients who suffer from co-occurring disorders from noted expert Jack Klott who will show you how to apply the basic principles of treatment, recognize the essential aspects of a treatment plan, and learn how Motivational Enhancement Therapy can be an effective treatment strategy. With an emphasis on "treating people, not behaviors" Jack will address and walk you through stage wise interventions, the "how to" and benefits of motivational interviewing, review other treatment considerations to take into account, stress the importance of identifying suicide risk factors and what these are, as well as look at a cognitive behavioral model of treatment.

ABOUT JACK KLOTT, MSSA, LISW, CSW, MINT

Jack Klott, has over 40 years experience working with clients who suffer from a complexity of psychiatric, psychological, and substance use issues. He founded Suicide Prevention Consultants, a private practice located in Grand Rapids, MI, which serves high-risk clients vulnerable to treatment resistance, non-compliance, and multiple relapse behavior. For over twenty years, he has led training seminars on Suicide Prevention, Treatment of Co-occurring Disorders, and Motivational Interviewing. He has successfully implemented treatment strategies based on Motivational Enhancement theories that work to diminish the ambivalence and resistance which normally accompany high-risk clients, and has brought that expertise to others through his training seminars. Jack is the author of The Co-occurring Disorders Treatment Planner and The Suicide and Homicide Risk Assessment and Treatment Planner (both published by Wiley).
